He contends that the word is used but once in the authorized version of the Bible, and then it is applied to God. It is said to be prefixed in this country to the names of ecclesiastics as a title of respect; but Pastor Dunaway does not propose to have dicated on every letter or postal-card that is addressed to him. He says that both before and after he was ordained to the Christian ministry all gentlemen have treated him with respect, and he has compelled those who are not gentlemen to do so. Mr. Dunaway concludes his

"For two years it has been a question in my mind as to the propriety of using such a title. Recently I have carefully studied the subject. On January 7, 1896, I dropped the "Reverend" from my name, and I now ask my friends not to address me as Reverend. I repudiate it. My preference is for Pastor, I may be addressed as Pastor, Elder, Mr. or simply as J. Manning Dunaway."

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET. NEW YORK, January 15.—The great topic of discussion in financial circles towas the dissolution of the Morday was the dissolution of the Morgan bond syndicate.

The dissolution of the syndicate would have had no important bearing on the market for securities had it not been for the manner in which the head of the combination of bankers and capitalists handled the matter. Mr. Morgan's explanatory circular, which accompanied the official notice of the retirement of the syndicate from the field, set at rest any doubts that may have companied the official notice of the retirement of the syndicate from the field, set at rest any doubts that may have been entertained that the New York bankers were not heartily in fayor of making the new loan a success. This much being settled, Wall street returned to its usual routine, and is now concerned only in knowing how the payments for the new bonds are to be made without disturbance to the money-market. It is intimated from Washington that this will be provided for, but no modification of the original circular is likely until after the closing of the subscription-books, on February 5th next.

The opening of the market was strong, especially for the international issues. A period of hesitancy followed, traders being unable for the moment to judge the effect of the disruption of the bond syndicate. London then came in as a moderate buyer of its fancies, and an advance of 1-4611-2 per cent. followed in the active issues.

Illinois Central, Rubber preferred, and Northwestern preferred, however, which are rarely dealt in, gained 2031-2 per cent.

CHICAGO PRODUCE MARKET.

CHICAGO, ILL., January 15.—Through the strength exhibited by corn in the morning, and by pork and other hog products in the afternoon, wheat was enabled to advance remained at the close. The bears were disposed to act shyly, because of the theory extant that a substantial buil interest is developing.

At the opening of the session prices were fractionally higher than at the close of yesterday, a portion of that day's tendencies still lingering in the market. Then corn began to climb higher, and wheat followed, receding later, however. During the last hour, buyers again obtained courage, and another rally was the result. The sentiment all day was in favor of better prices, and outside buying orders flowed in from all directions.

May wheat opened at from 33 3-8 to 59 1-2c., advanced to 60 1-8c., and closed at 53 1-26, devanced to 60 1-8c., and closed at 53 1-26, devanced to 60 1-8c., and closed at 53 1-26, devanced to 60 1-8c., and closed at 53 1-26, devanced to 60 1-8c., and closed at 53 1-26, devanced to 60 1-8c., and closed at 53 1-26, devanced to 60 1-8c., and closed. at 37-8890c.—1-245-sc. higher than yesterday, Cash wheat, in the sample department, was firm.

Corn—The market was stirred up this morning, and for some time the pit presented a scene of considerable activity. A prominent short undertook to cover his outstanding contracts, his efforts resulting in a decided improvement in prices, although not affording him a great amount of satisfaction. The force of the advance extended to the other grain markets, assisting them materially. When the demand mentioned had ceased, values fell away to about the position they were in when the advance started. Later in the session there was another raily, but all that had been lost was not recovered. May corn opened at 28-5-8c, sold between 28-1-262-5-8 and 29-1-8c, and closed, at 28-7-8c,—1-4c, higher.

Oats partook of the same character as corn, with the same individual who figured actively in the latter conspicuous in the former. There was quite as sharp a bulge, followed by a smaller recession and raily later.

May oats closed 1-801-4c, higher than yesterday. Cash onts were firm and a quarter of a cent higher.

Provisions had a boom of no small consequence to-day. The buying started in early, that at the opening being introduced by another light run of hogs and higher prices at the yards. As the session advanced the demand increased and broadened until it embraced all classes of operators, shorts, longs, packers, and outsiders included.

The continued falling off in the supply of hogs finds explanation in the ravages of hog-cholera, which took place several months ago, the effect of which is now only beginning to make itself feit in the large markets. At the close May pork was 32-1-2c, higher than yesterday, May lard 12-1-2c, higher than yesterday.

The San's cofton review: Cotton declined 7 to 5 points, closing barely steady, with sales of 189,300 bales.

To-day's fustures: Rather more pressure to sell, not only futures, but actual cotton, largely accounts for the decline to-day. Increased offerings of C. I. F. cotton were reported at New York, New Orleans, and Liverpool: the English market was lower; the estimated receipts at New Orleans to-morrow were larger; the receipts at Augusta were surprisingly liberal, and although Liverpool was reported to have bought here to some extent, it is believed to have sold this afternoon. New York and Liverpool are about on a par. The worst feature of the market continued to be the dulness of speculation. The dissolution of the Morgan bond syndicate had some effect. The decline in the stock market, of course, was not a favorable feature, and reports are being received from Alabama, Georgia, and the Carolinas that considerable cotton is being held buck. A number of prominent commission-houses sold. Some of the short-waisted bulls becarae discouraged and sold out.

After all, the decline was too great, however, and it is believed that if a listle more life could be infused into speculation, prices would easily advance, in spite of the crop movement, which may be attributed, at least in part, to the recent buying at the South by Europe.

New Orleans has improved terminal facilities, and is likely to draw cotton at the expense of other ports.

The Essat Indian conditions are believed to be favorable for a good trade in Manchester.

As to the late falling off in the spot trade at Liverpool, a dispatch from that market says; There being no premiums on futures here, Manchester spinners are buying no more than actual requirements.

Consols advanced, the political situation was more favorable, and one Liverpool dispatch intimated that the decline there ouring no more than actual requirements.

Consols advanced, the political situation was more favorable, and one Liverpool dispatch intimated that the decline there to-day was attributable to the dulness of speculation. That is as much the trouble at New York as anything else, Large houses here are still identified with the built side, and show no disposition to run up the white flag.

NEW ORLEANS, LA., January 15.—Cotton—Futures steady; sales, 47,300 bales: February, 47,74; March, 47,81; April, 47,81; May, 57,85; June, 57,88; July, 37,91; August, 37,84; September, 47,56; October, 47,46.

The Dry-Goods Market.

The Dry-Goods Market.

NEW YORK, January 15.—Quietude is all departments has again been the most prominent feature of the dry-goods market at first hands. Spot business has been slow, only a limited number of buyers being in attendance, whitst orders through the mails have disclosed no material expansion of demand. The reports of progress made by jobbers in the distribution of their early purchases of cotton and other dress fabrics in this city and other large distributing centres show irregular results, but in the aggregate disclose features of encouragement.
